Dear Harold,

Enclosed is a check for $6.50 (is that the correct amt.?) for the copy of Whitewash IV. That was the only book I wanted to order at this time, as my finances are rock-bottom now.

It was a shock to me to see that check for $1.50 go to the bank, & then not once but twice. They've billed me $5, which I can hardly afford.

I've got Oswald in N.O., Frame-Up, & Whitewash II. My other books of yours are not here, so I assume they are on "permanent loan" to whomever might have them. I'll return Frame-Up & II. If it is OK with you, I'll keep the other two & send the cash as soon as I have it. Otherwise, I'll return them for now & re-order later.

What do you make of the "close-down," now that Nixon is out? Not a damn thing has changed, if the system continues to operate with people of Nixon's character. Fascism will come now from those who tossed out Dirty Dick. Don't get me wrong: They did a good thing in kicking him out. It's just that they stopped too soon. We ought to understand why Nixon (Ford, et al) made it in this system.

I have a theory as to why Nixon released that transcript to you. He is threatening his opposition with full disclosure of the truth about Dallas. He's saying, if you get me, I'll tell all. Obviously, Nixon was in on Dallas, at least on the far edges (but probably somewhere closer to the center). He knows the Eastern Establishment doesn't want the truth out, because it would bring into question all its advantages, privileges, etc. Nixon is therefore using such things as the transcript to "subtly" warn that group that he'll "turn himself" if need be to get them. Well, that didn't work, so Nixon may be in more danger than ever of being killed now. Who knows whether or not somebody was trying to kill him when he had the leg trouble?

What did you make of McCord? I would like to hear your full views on him. What do you think of the Tashwood charges? Esp. the revelation of "Edward Martin" as <sup>one of</sup> his CIA contacts? You know Tashwood said that before Watergate & McCord used that name when arrested at Watergate.

The prospects for fascism look awfully great from here. No jobs. People who have jobs scared. A general "situational fascism" spreading amongst workers, etc., etc. Where is the hope? For a long time I saw that hope in disclosure of war tricks, assassination info, etc., but I'm close to losing all hope now. In fact, I've never felt this hopeless about the general U.S. scene as I do now. While I don't want to have false hopes, I also don't want to be unbearably pessimistic.

The realities of the U.S. are, no matter how you cut it, pretty grim.

Well, enough for now. I decided not to talk to my wife about the things we discussed. It would just put her in jeopardy of her job, and she needs that job. She's going back to Spain, and I'm not exactly pleased about that. The CIA is getting ready (I imagine) to invade Portugal from Spain, so Madrid won't be the safest place for her or my son.

Please destroy that 31.50 check & let me have your views on what I've raised in the above.

Best -

Neil
